AMERICAN CLEFT PALATE–CRANIOFACIAL ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIP INFORMATION

The Cleft Palate Journal is a publication of the American Cleft Palate–Craniofacial Association (ACPA). Organized in 1943, ACPA is an international interdisciplinary organization representing over 1900 professionals. ACPA's mission is to foster:

1. Acquisition and dissemination of knowledge about growth, development, diagnosis, and treatment of individuals with craniofacial anomalies
2. Optimal clinical services for individuals with craniofacial anomalies
3. Communication and cooperation among professionals from all disciplines interested in craniofacial anomalies
4. Public understanding of and support for the needs of individuals with craniofacial anomalies.

Professionals interested in the area of habilitation and/or research concerned with the study and treatment of cleft palate and related craniofacial anomalies are invited to apply for membership. Included in the membership fee is a subscription to the Cleft Palate Journal as well as a quarterly newsletter, other informational mailings, and discount registration fees to the annual scientific meeting.

For further information about ACPA membership and an application form, contact:
